Indiana Supreme Court weighing challenge to state abortion ban

BY TOM DAVIES
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — A top state lawyer last week urged the Indiana Supreme Court to uphold the state's Republican-backed abortion ban, even as the justices weighed whether they should decide its constitutionality before lower courts have fully considered the case.

The state's highest court heard arguments in a lawsuit filed by abortion clinic operators against the ban, which has been blocked from being enforced since September when a county judge found it likely violated privacy protections under the state constitution.

Indiana became the first state to enact tighter abortion restrictions after the U.S. Supreme Court eliminated federal protections by overturning Roe v. Wade in June.

The arguments being made before the Indiana justices come after the top courts in two other conservative states went in opposite directions on similar state constitutional challenges to their abortion bans; South Carolina's ban was struck down and Idaho's was upheld.

Indiana Chief Justice Loretta Rush asked whether the Supreme Court should now decide the constitutionality of the abortion ban since it has been blocked by a judge's preliminary injunction order — a legal step taken without a full trial on the merits of the lawsuit.

State Solicitor General Tom Fisher said a Supreme Court decision on constitutionality was needed to settle the dispute.

"Our position is that there's no likelihood of success on the merits because there's no right to abortion in Indiana," Fisher said.

The Indiana ban, which eliminated the licenses for all abortion clinics in the state, includes exceptions allowing abortions at hospitals in cases of rape and incest, before 10 weeks post-fertilization; to protect the life and physical health of the mother; and if a fetus is diagnosed with a lethal anomaly.

Wallace names Perkins assistant chief of MPD

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Madison Police Chief John Wallace on Monday announced a change in the department's command structure that will see former MPD Chief Jeremey Perkins promoted to major/assistant chief effective immediately.

Jeremey Perkins

"Major Perkins brings a great experience to the office of major," said Wallace. "We look forward to continued growth as we meet the needs of a city on the move."

Perkins, who has been with the department since 2002, has previously served as patrolman, detective, sergeant, captain, major and assistant chief before succeeding Dan Thurston as police chief in 2017. He served as the city's top law enforcement officer until 2020 when he opted not to apply for that same position when incoming Mayor Bob Courtney opened the job to all applicants. Major Ben McKay was named interim chief in January 2020 until Wallace was hired police chief in February 2020 and then became assistant chief to Wallace.

Perkins has served as a detective more recently but will now be second in command to Wallace, a role similar to what he held from 2011 to to 2017. Meanwhile, McKay has been reassigned as captain of MPD's day shift as part of the command structure changes.

HONORS

Bob Demaree

"We've all learned to grow together as a group," calling it a successful year for the Chamber.

This year's event was the 99th annual dinner with Elaine Bedel, chief executive officer of the Indiana Destination Development Corporation (IDDC), as the keynote speaker.

In presenting Jones with the Jeff Garrett Citizen of the Year award, Pennington said Jones has "spent years giving to our community." For 16 years, she was coordinator of the Nights Before Christmas Candlelight Tour of Homes, and for the last 11 years organized the Cookie Caper held in conjunction with that event. Over the years, the Cookie Caper has raised more than $40,000 to benefit numerous charitable organizations in Jefferson County. Jones also worked for Visit Madison Inc. from 2004 to 2020 and has volunteered with the Fair Play Fire Company Auxiliary, Tri Kappa Tour of Homes, Salvation Army and Ohio Theatre.

The Community Service Award is named in memory of Jeff Garrett to recognize his lifetime of community contributions following his death Oct. 30, 2005. Garrett, a former executive director of the Chamber, is credited with establishing the annual Ribberfest BBQ & Blues and Soup Stew Chili Brew festivals along other community activities. "It's my opinion that he almost single handed led Madison out of the doldrums" in the early 2000s following a couple of decades of economic stagnation, said Ice, adding that the award truly is special because of Garrett's accomplishments.

Eagle Cotton Mill Fairfield by Marriott Inn and Suites was named Business of the Year. Pennington said the hotel, which opened in July of 2021, "has made a big splash on Madison's riverfront. They took a long-abandoned building and turned it into a jewel on the riverfront. It has become a destination for business and leisure guests while sharing a sense of Madison's rich heritage."

Brad Wood was recipient of the Emerging Leader Award. "He has demonstrated strong leadership skills," said Pennington, noting that Wood joined River Valley Resources in March of 2022 as director of operations and strategic initiatives, and was recently promoted to RVR chief operating officer. He has served as president of Ulster Project, Recovery Café board of directors and Healthy Communities Resilient Jefferson County committee. "This is a leader that will guide Jefferson County into the next decade," said Pennington.

Bedel is the first-ever CEO of IDDC, which was formed by the state legislature in 2019 as a quasi-government agency for promoting, branding and telling Indiana's story to both attract and retain business, talent, students and visitors to Indiana.

As is a 1974 graduate of Hanover College who now serves as president of the college's board of directors, Bedel knows Jefferson County well. "Madison is just a beautiful city, it's a rising star in the state of Indiana. You are our gateway from the south so we want to make sure that you continue to grow," she said.

Bedel said Indiana has much to offer, but there's a perception "that there's really nothing here" even though she said that is not true. "We know if we get people to Indiana on any level to visit or to work, it totally changes their perspective. So, right now Indiana's perception is not really very high" and the IDDC is working to change that. "We want to raise the perception in order to get people to come" to Indiana.

Madison Mayor Bob Courtney also spoke at the event, focusing on what was accomplished during the COVID-19 pandemic. He said the city used that time to plan, execute and develop. "We've learned that by continually investing and focusing on innovation when the opportunity to presents itself, even in challenging times like we had, we're going to come out of it even stronger. Madison is strong today. It will be stronger in the future."

Ice recognized the Chamber's officers and board of directors, commending them for their dedication and commitment in "how much they do" for the community.

In addition to Pennington assuming the role of Chamber president in 2023, Kelsey Shaw will be vice president, Mindy Cloud-Thevenow will be treasurer and Jim Leveille will serve as secretary. The remaining board of directors include Morrison-Bear, Keith Acree, Hope Fox, J.R. Harrell, Amanda Harsin, Jenny Moss, Monica Nolan, Michaela Owens, RaeAne Pryor and Angela Record.

Morrison-Bear also recognized out-going board members Doug Ungru, the 2022 vice president, and Paula Clark, the 2021 president.

On this date:

In 1533, England's King Henry VIII secretly married his second wife, Anne Boleyn, who later gave birth to Elizabeth I.

In 1945, Grand Rapids, Michigan, became the first community to add fluoride to its public water supply.

In 1971, Charles Manson and three women followers were convicted in Los Angeles of murder and conspiracy in the 1969 slayings of seven people, including actor Sharon Tate.

In 1993, Sears announced that it would no longer publish its famous century-old catalog.

In 2004, NASA's Opportunity rover zipped its first pictures of Mars to Earth, showing a surface smooth and dark red in some places, and strewn with fragmented slabs of light bedrock in others.

In 2020, President Donald Trump's defense team opened its arguments at his first Senate impeachment trial, casting the effort to remove him from office as a politically motivated attempt to subvert the 2016 election and the upcoming 2020 contest. Canada, Australia and Malaysia each reported their first cases of the new coronavirus.

Ten years ago: The U.S. Department of Education declared that students with disabilities had to be given a fair shot to play on a traditional sports team or have their own leagues. Thousands of anti-abortion demonstrators marched through Washington to the steps of the U.S. Supreme Court to protest the landmark decision that legalized abortion.

Five years ago: President Donald Trump arrived at the World Economic Forum in Switzerland; after meeting there with Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, Trump threatened to cut off U.S. aid to the Palestinians unless they negotiated peace with Israel. In an interview in InStyle magazine, Oprah Winfrey said she was not interested in a presidential bid, adding that she doesn't "have the DNA" for a White House run.

Harsin will lead the Ivy Tech Madison team through many important future initiatives, including a partnership with Hanover College that includes the launch of veterinary teaching facilities for needed careers in veterinary nursing in 2025. Additionally, Harsin will lead the college's partnership with Indiana Department of Corrections (IDOC) inclusive of a correctional education team that provides for all high school equivalency and vocational classrooms across IDOC facilities.

"Amanda has become a trusted leader within the college and the Ivy Tech Madison service area, including Switzerland, Jefferson, and Trimble counties," said Dr. Sue Ellspermann, president of Ivy Tech Community College. "I am confident her experience and contributions to Ivy Tech Madison will take the campus to new heights by producing more graduates, deep partnerships, and workforce aligned programming that will translate into sustainable outcomes for the college for years to come."

"I am honored to serve my campus, as well as the people and families of the greater Ivy Tech Madison community," said Harsin. "Ivy Tech Community College provides an amazing environment to lead in a high-impact way, and with the support from our campus team, statewide colleagues, and strong partnerships, I commit to leading with honesty, humility, and hard work."

Harsin holds a bachelor's in communication from Hanover College, a master's in communication theory from the University of Kentucky, and a PhD in health communication theory and research with a minor in nursing from Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis.

ABORTION

The American Civil Liberties Union of Indiana, which is representing Planned Parenthood and other abortion clinic operators challenging the ban, argued that the ban violates the state constitution's protections of liberty "to manage one's own life."

"A central component of that interest is the right of a woman to make intensely private decisions concerning procreation," said Ken Falk, the group's Indiana legal director. "I would ask this court, what would the founders say if tomorrow the General Assembly passes a law which says Hoosier women can only have two children? Or all of us Hoosiers, we could only receive health care for substantial and irreversible impairment of major bodily functions, nothing else?"

The state attorney general's office has argued that Indiana had laws against abortion when its current constitution was drafted in 1851 and that the judge's ruling wrongly created an abortion right.

Fisher said the ACLU was asking Indiana courts "to recognize a novel, unwritten, historically counter-indicated right to abortion."

The five-member Supreme Court, all of whom were appointed by Republican governors, faces no deadline for releasing a decision, and it typically takes weeks or longer.

The question of whether the Indiana Constitution protects abortion rights is undecided. A state appeals court ruled in 2004 that privacy is a core value under the state constitution that extends to all residents, including women seeking an abortion.

But the Indiana Supreme Court later upheld a law requiring an 18-hour waiting period before a woman could get an abortion without addressing whether the state constitution included the right to privacy or abortion.

Court orders have allowed abortions to continue since September under existing laws generally prohibiting abortions after the 20th week of pregnancy and tightly restricting it after the 13th week.

Justice Christopher Goff said he considered it "unprecedented" to have what was considered a federal constitutional right for 50 years eliminated and asked Fisher why the question of allowing abortions shouldn't be directly voted upon by the public.

"Why shouldn't there be a referendum and that issue put to the people?" Goff said. "Why should that end with the courts or the General Assembly?"

Abortion opponents lost votes on ballot measures last year in Kansas, Michigan and Kentucky, but Indiana law only provides for statewide referendums after a proposed constitutional amendment has twice been approved by the Legislature in a process that can take four years.

Fisher said the voting public elected the legislators who enacted the abortion ban and abortion-rights supporters can seek to amend the state constitution.

"We don't modify the constitution by way of judicial decree to say, well, in this situation, we're going to throw this question open to some kind of initiative or referendum," Fisher said.

FUNDS

"The Cleaner Water Program funding announced will help us replace problematic infrastructure and ensure improved water service here in Carroll County," Carroll County Judge/Executive David Wilhoite said. "Without the funds committed, these projects would not be possible. It's a big win for our people, and we want to thank the legislature and Gov. Beshear for working together to make it happen."

Trimble County Water District No. 1 is receiving $299,750 to help replace an old water main. Meanwhile, the city of Milton will receive $175,000 to help construct a new wastewater treatment plant, the city of Bedford will receive $20,000 to upgrade an existing water treatment plant and Trimble County Fiscal Court will receive $20,000 to bring drinking water to residents along Carmon Creek and Louden Lane.

"We here in Trimble County are excited and grateful for the assistance of the Cleaner Water Program funding committed," Trimble County Judge/Executive John Ogburn Jr. said. "The funds will help with general water infrastructure upgrades like replacing problematic water mains, as well as exciting new projects like a new treatment plant and extending waterlines to new residents. We appreciate the funding and are ready to build on this momentum."

A total of commitment of $6.7 million in Cleaner Water Program funds is being provided for projects that in addition to Carroll and Trimble counties includes Gallatin, Henry, Oldham and Owen counties.

"Investments in education and infrastructure, like clean water, roads and bridges provide Kentucky a solid foundation for building tomorrow's economy, today," Coleman said, a native of Harrodsburg and resident of Bardstown. "What excites me, as a rural Kentuckian, is that opportunity is coming to all corners of the commonwealth."

No. 10 Rebels use execution to push past Rock Creek

BY JORDAN BEAR

The Rebels, ranked 10th in Class 2A, weren't as big or as athletic as the host Lions, but Southwestern's edge came in its ability to perform on both sides of the ball.

"We knew they were big, strong, and athletic," Southwestern coach Zac Nussbaum said. "They outrebounded us in the numbers, but not by nearly as much as you would think. Our post play was so good, they did in the game what we've been working on in practice all week."

The first quarter was a story of spurts. Rock Creek opened the game with six-straight points, followed by the Rebels scoring eight straight of their own. From there it was back and forth until both teams ended the quarter tied 17-17.

Southwestern then used a big run in the second quarter to take a 37-31 halftime lead.

The second half was completely different as outstanding fundamental play by the Rebels allowed them to pull away and control the pace of the game. Nussbaum said that he was happy at the team's scoring balance.

"So many teams focus on Jamison (Lewis) and Peyton Gwin, and they don't realize that we have four or five capable guys" Nussbaum said. "Peyton Cloud scoring 26 points tonight, plus 14 points by (Claytin) Sontag, in addition to both Jamison and Peyton doing their usual, as a coach it's a joy to coach a team like that. It makes my life a lot easier as a coach."

In addition to Cloud's 26 and Sontag's 14 — both career-highs — Lewis had 18 points and Gwin scored 13.

Rock Creek was led by Ledarius Wallace with 19 points.

On Saturday night Southwestern picked up another win at South Central, 85-69. Gwin led the Rebels with 30 points, Cloud had 21 and Lewis scored 17 points.

The wins over the weekend pushed Nussbaum's career total to 57 as head coach, the fourth-most in school history. Nussbaum thanked everyone around him.

"I've had great players, coaches, and fans during my time here and none of this is possible without them," Nussbaum said. "My family is with me every day and I continue to gain more and more joy in coaching here. Hopefully we have a lot more great memories to make this year."

Southwestern, now 15-2 on the season, hosts Milan on Friday.

Bengals return to AFC championship with rout of Bills

BY JOHN WAWROW
ASSOCIATED PRESS

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. — Joe Burrow and the Cincinnati Bengals threw a big wrench into the highly anticipated travel plans of the Buffalo Bills, their fans and perhaps even the NFL offices.

Burrow threw two touchdown passes and Cincinnati's defense swarmed Josh Allen on a snow-slicked field for a 27-10 win Sunday to send the Bengals to the AFC championship game for the second straight year.

And it'll be in Kansas City again — instead of in Atlanta, the neutral site where the game would've been played if Buffalo had beaten Cincinnati.

"Better send those refunds," Burrow said, referring to the 50,000 or so tickets already sold for a game that will never be played.

"See y'all in Atlanta," one Bengals player was heard yelling sarcastically while the team made its way to the locker room, where cornerback Eli Apple and a couple of teammates conducted interviews smoking cigars.

The Bengals entered the game already feeling disrespected when the NFL began selling tickets for a would-be game at Atlanta, that was dependent on the Bills and Chiefs winning this weekend.

The league decided on the first of its kind conference championship neutral site setting because the Bills (13-3) finished the season a half-game behind the Chiefs (14-3) after their game at Cincinnati was canceled on Jan. 2 when Bills safety Damar Hamlin went into cardiac arrest and had to be resuscitated on the field.

Burrow completed his first nine passes for 105 yards as Cincinnati raced to a 14-0 lead after its first two possessions. Ja'Marr Chase opened the scoring with a 28-yard TD catch 3:20 into the game, followed by Burrow's 15-yard TD throw to Hayden Hurst eight minutes later. Joe Mixon scored on a 1-yard run, and Evan McPherson made field goals from 20 and 28 yards in a game the Bengals never trailed.

Ja'Marr Chase opened the scoring with a 28-yard TD catch 3:20 into the game, followed by Burrow's 15-yard TD throw to Hayden Hurst eight minutes later. Joe Mixon scored on a 1-yard run, and Evan McPherson made field goals from 20 and 28 yards in a game the Bengals never trailed.

"The bigger the moment gets, the calmer he gets," Bengals coach Zac Taylor said of Burrow, who improved his playoff record to 5-1. "Our guys believe. They walk on the field ready to attack."

Cincinnati advanced to consecutive AFC championship games for the first time in franchise history and will prepare for a rematch of last year's title game. The Bengals defeated Patrick Mahomes and the Chiefs 27-24 to advance to last year's Super Bowl, which they lost to the Los Angeles Rams.

"It's going to be a fun one," said Burrow, who went 23 of 36 for 242 yards Sunday. "Two of the top guys in the league, two of the top teams in the league, great defenses, great overall teams, great coaches."

Cincinnati has won the past three meetings against Kansas City, including a 27-24 victory last month. The Chiefs are making their fifth straight appearance in the AFC championship game following a 27-20 win over Jacksonville on Saturday.

The Bills' playoff run ended in the divisional round for a second straight season, including a 42-36 overtime loss to Kansas City last year.

Bills receiver Stefon Diggs was so upset, he was spotted leaving the locker room with much of his gear on shortly after the game ended before being coaxed by a teammate to return.

"He's a competitive guy. What makes him good is what you saw," coach Sean McDermott said of Diggs. "It hurts. I wouldn't want a guy that doesn't hurt. We put it all on the line out there and tonight it wasn't good enough."

It was a dud of an outing for the Bills, who opened the season with Super Bowl aspirations, and eventually ran out of emotional and physical gas. Aside from the stunning sight of Hamlin's collapse, the Bills had their schedule twice disrupted by severe winter storms.

Injuries also played an issue. The Bills' pass rush, missing Von Miller since he sustained a season-ending knee injury in November, generated very little pressure against a Bengals offensive line missing three starters due to injuries.

"We were expecting their best punch and they came out and punched us," said Allen, who finished 25 of 42 for 265 yards, and scored on a 1-yard plunge. "We just didn't have it today."

The Bengals mixed in their running attack to keep the Bills off balance in a first half during which

Pressure too much for Madison in 78-44 loss at East

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

COLUMBUS — Columbus East pressed Madison into one of its worst offensive performances of the season and rolled to a 78-44 win in girls basketball on Saturday.

East honored retiring head coach Danny Brown and assistant coach Willie Humes — a former Madison head coach — before the game and then dominated the Cubs in every aspect of the contest over the next 32 minutes. The Olympians led by 10 after the first quarter and expanded its margin from there.

"That was probably the best pressure that we've seen this year. They were long, they were fast to the ball and they really did a good job of getting our heads down," Madison coach Adam Dennis said. "And I thought they were allowed to be a little physical with us. When we play an athletic team that's long and strong and it's allowed to be physical with us, it makes things really hard."

Madison didn't shoot the ball terribly, hitting on 36% (18-for-50) for the game and 3-of-14 (21%) from 3-point range. But the Cubs also turned the ball over a whopping 35 times on 21 steals, leading to 43 Columbus East points and ruining any chance Madison had at staying in the game.

David Campbell

Former Madison head girls coach Willie Humes (center) was honored before Saturday's game at Columbus East. The longtime Columbus East assistant coach — a standout player at Madison and Indiana Basketball Hall of Famer — has announced that he will retire from coaching after this season.

Eleven of those turnovers came in the first quarter as Columbus East built a 16-6 lead. The Olympians forced six more in the second quarter and led 39-19 at the break.

Madison has relied on its defense all season, holding opponents to just 42.5 points per game on average. But with East spending much of the game in transition, the Cubs' defense never got a chance to set up.

"We saw on film that they're going to try really hard to cheat the passing lanes which should play to our advantage," Dennis said. "But where normally we can get a layup or an open shot, we weren't able to get the ball in the right place.

"There's going to be a lot of teams that play today, in high school and college, who are going to lose and several of them are going to get thumped. And that's what happened to us today."

Indiana State-bound Saige Stahl had a monster game for the Olympians, scoring 40 points on 15-of-22 shooting and pulling down 15 rebounds while recording five steals. Leah Bachman added 11 points and eight rebounds for East.

David Campbell

Madison's Cam Cahall (5) gets fouled by Columbus East's Messiah Trapp after grabbing a rebound in the Cubs' loss on Saturday in Columbus.

Madison's Juliana Davis couldn't match Stahl, but the freshman still had the best game of her young career, scoring 22 points while adding 10 rebounds, three assists and five steals. No other Cub had more than seven points with Cam Cahall scoring seven and grabbing eight rebounds.

Madison, now 9-9 on the season, travels to North Harrison on Tuesday and then closes out the regular season at Class A No. 4 Trinity Lutheran on Thursday.

BENGALS

Cincinnati outgained Buffalo in total yards by a margin of 274-135, and 412-325 overall. Mixon's 105 yards rushing alone were 1 short of how many the Bengals combined in their past two games, both against Baltimore.

"Domination from start to finish," Burrow added. "That's what we expected. Job's not finished."

The Bengals held one of the NFL's top offenses to season-low 10 points. And the unit got a chance to celebrate by making snow angels in the end zone after Cam Taylor-Britt intercepted Allen's attempt at the goal line to essentially end the game with 62 seconds remaining.

Hamlin was whisked into the stadium in a security vehicle, and led directly into the Bills' locker room about an hour before kickoff.

He was later joined by his mother, Nina, and younger brother, Damir. He watched the game from a suite in one end zone and was pictured on the videoboard at the 2-minute warning in the first half, with Cincinnati facing second-and-goal at Buffalo's 5.

Hamlin raised his arms in his suite to a roar of cheers, before making a heart sign with his hands. The Bills limited the Bengals to a field goal, and trailed 17-7 at the half.

"We'll be back," Hamlin tweeted a few hours after the game. "Don't even trip."

The Bengals extended their franchise-best streak to 10 straight wins. They haven't lost since a 32-13 defeat at Cleveland on Halloween. The Bengals' 30 first downs were a franchise postseason record.

They were the most allowed by the Bills since allowing 30 in last year's playoff loss at Kansas City.

The Bills dropped to 13-2 when hosting an NFL playoff game. And they were 4-0 under McDermott.

A woman questions sexual consent

Dear Amy: I am a woman in a long-term relationship with a man.

We have a good relationship, talking through issues and agreeing on most things. When we disagree, we communicate, clear the air, and move on.

The other night, my partner woke up in the middle of the night and performed a sex act with me that I did not enjoy and would never consent to, had I been asked.

I did not, in the moment, stop it or verbalize non-consent. I took a few days to process the incident. I then tried to discuss it with him.

He said he vaguely remembers this, but claims to remember none of the details. He told me he feels bad that this happened, and I asked for time to continue to process my feelings.

He wants to jump straight back into our usual, physically affectionate relationship, but I'm not sure that I am ready. I know that he will be disappointed but respectful if I ask him to hold off on having sex, but that can't last forever.

How can I continue to process my emotions about this, and work toward building emotional and physical intimacy with my partner?

AMY DICKINSON ASK AMY

I can't afford therapy right now, and I'm not sure if I even know how I feel in order to be able to talk about it with someone. Can you give me some feedback? — Confused and Concerned

Dear Confused: Because this episode is way out of the norm for you two, I'd wonder why your partner did this — and why he claims not to remember. Does he have a sleep disorder? Is he taking a drug that has affected both his behavior and memory?

If so, he obviously needs to disclose this to you.

Divorced dad desires DNA disclosure

Dear Amy: I am the father of four sons, divorced from their alcoholic mother 17 years ago when the boys were very young. All of my sons are now in their 20's.

Shortly after my divorce, I learned from a good friend of my ex that she began her long streak of infidelities within the first year of our marriage.

I was aware during my marriage that she was "spending time" with male co-workers, including one man in particular, during a period of time which coincides with the conception of one of my sons.

This particular son does not resemble his brothers. His physical characteristics strongly resemble the male co-worker that I suspect his mom was having a relationship with.

I have questioned for years whether I am his biological father.

For both his sake and mine, and for numerous other reasons, I have considered discussing this with him or getting DNA testing done.

I cannot discuss this with my sons' mom, because I will never get the truth.

Is it wrong to discuss this with my son and/or get DNA tests to confirm or deny my biological connection to him?

What is your advice?

— Heartsick in the Heartland

AMY DICKINSON ASK AMY

Dear Heartsick: It isn't necessarily wrong to try to discuss this issue with your son, but if you do, you should prepare yourself for a wide range of reactions from him —from possible relief to rejection.

You should closely examine all of your motives for wanting to determine his DNA.

This sort of DNA revelation can be extremely destabilizing, not only for an individual, but for the entire family system — including his relationship with his mother and his three brothers.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — You may be tempted to defend your actions or confront haters or trolls. Rise above any potential conflict that involves a family member or a friend. Avoid taking risks by keeping your enthusiasms focused and under control.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Put business before pleasure. Use your street smarts to deal with the latest investment ideas and to analyze upcoming transactions. Use your adaptable intelligence to find practical solutions to emerging problems.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Be crystal clear about your boundaries and avoid the temptation to spend too freely. Lead the way and show everyone you are quick on your feet. It would be wise to take casual promises with a grain of salt today.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Do not fight city hall. Someone's opposition to your plans can create a temporary roadblock and prevent you from making headway with your plans. Go along with mainstream opinions if possible to fit in better right now..

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Love will find a way. Do something nice for a loved one or show appreciation for someone's thoughtful gesture of affection. You are very effective when handling investments and engaged in moneymaking activities.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Respect the bottom line. Your acumen is strengthened so you should be able to ask the right questions and understand the fine print. Incorporate insightful and timely tactics into your short- and long-range plans.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — It will be easy to demonstrate you are self-motivated and a self-starter when you handle negotiations or other delicate matters without supervision. Use clear thinking and objectivity to juggle all the details and personalities.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Accept your current situation without exaggerating your skills and talents but work on mapping out your future. You can be relied upon to handle situations that require passion, persistence and imagination.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — You may feel you're expected to dig deeply into your pockets to honor a promise or make someone happy. Make sure you are getting your money's worth in business transactions; only buy what you can afford.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Be smart about your spending. You could save significant money by taking advantage of sales or specials. Be discriminating, do your homework, and you'll find the best value for your money spent.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Money manipulations could be advantageous to you now. Consider ways to consolidate bills or pay them down and save a great deal each month. Use levelheaded strategies and business know-how to improve your lifestyle.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Operate from the highest integrity and the good you do will always return back to you. Use powers of pattern recognition to make short work of any job. Don't add to your debt load this week unless it's an emergency.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Be careful about what you say because when you speak, people listen. Family gatherings could be a source of frustration. Avoid stirring up controversial subjects and be open-minded about other people's opinions.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — True love is one thing, riding out the ups and downs of an ongoing relationship can be a greater challenge. You may already be engrossed in new strategies, but don't ignore something else that could improve your life.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Be a pragmatist. Get a clear picture of what you can and cannot accomplish before adopting a new business or financial plan. It may be difficult to talk emotional issues over with a closest friend or romantic partner.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — If all your energies are centered on achieving your ambitions, it can be difficult to maintain work-life balance. Frequent interruptions might be annoying and distracting. Don't be deterred by temporary doubts.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Plan your business and financial strategies collaboratively with a wise partner. Putting two heads together can help you hone your battle plan for success to a sharper point. Complicated social situations might be highlighted.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — If at first you don't succeed, it may be time to pivot. Consider a major revision to your plans to make more money. Someone else's independent viewpoint might stir your enthusiasm and provide a better sense of direction.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — You might become known as an expert wheeler-dealer. Once you become committed to a financial plan or project, you can envision all the details. To strike a perfect agreement, both sides must benefit equally.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Inventive and exciting concepts can come into sharp focus. Talk things over with a loyal partner or family friend before you try something new since you could go overboard. Your job may entail handling unexpected adjustments.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Set your sights on attaining a worthy goal. You can share mutual benefits if you enlist support from friends or business contacts. The greater your self-esteem, the more you are able to be tolerant and empathetic toward those different than yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Bargain hunters might be in their element today. Your business savvy is at a high point so you can use coupons, look for bargains or make money-saving changes to your budget. Ignore potentially hurtful family gossip.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Your clever grasp of business tactics might be in great demand. You have a hold on what is marketable and what could make sense from a financial standpoint. However, your love life might not be very exciting now.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Do the research and make decisions carefully now. It's a lot wiser to go along with recommended financial guidelines than to fly by wire without a net. Shore up your finances and bolster your resources.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It worked perfectly in the first half. Then, the Boilermakers spent the final 20 minutes scrambling to replicate it.

Zach Edey finished with 24 points and 16 rebounds and Braden Smith made two free throws with 3.9 seconds left to help No. 3 Purdue fend off Maryland's furious second-half charge for a 58-55 victory.

"It's just making good plays," Painter said after his team nearly blew a 16-point lead. "If they clamp down, pass the ball. That's all it really comes down to, just execute and take what they're giving you."

Usually, Purdue is one of America's most efficient teams. The Boilermakers have now won six straight to become the fifth Big Ten team to go 19-1 since 2000 and the first ever at Purdue. But on a day Edey had his 16th double-double of the season, the Boilermakers, who are 8-1 in conference play, weren't themselves.

The Terrapins routinely switched from man-to-man defense to zone and back again, while also applying full-court pressure, which caused Purdue to commit eight second-half turnovers, go 0 for 6 on 3-pointers and shoot just 26.9% from the field.

All of it led to Maryland (12-7, 3-5) nearly pulling off a stunning comeback after trailing by as many as 16 points in the first half and 35-21 at halftime.

Julian Reese scored 19 points to help the Terrapins rally, and Jahmir Young had 10 — though his 30-foot heave at the buzzer hit nothing but the backboard.

"We're pretty used to it," first-year Maryland coach Kevin Willard said when asked about the big early deficit. "We've not gotten off to goood starts on the road. Being down 14, I though was a win because I knew we had a run in us."

Did they ever.

Reese spurred Maryland's 9-3 run to open the second half and his layup with 7:03 to play got the Terrapins within 52-49, the first of four times they cut the deficit to three in the closing minutes.

But in a game Purdue led wire-to-wire, Maryland made only two more baskets and couldn't get closer than three until Young made two free throws with 5.3 seconds to go. Smith answered with two more for Purdue and Young's long but off-the-mark heave had Purdue fans and Painter breathing a sigh of relief.

"Each game, especially when you have young players on your team, you have some guys who are always learning," Painter said. "We were fortunate to win this game because as I said earlier, it could have gone either way."

BIG PICTURE

Purdue: The Boilermakers have held 21 consecutive opponents to 70 or fewer points and are 52-5 at home since 2014-15 when classes are in session. But Purdue needs a stronger knockout punch to avoid the kind of nail-biting finishes its had in two of the last three games.

Jackson-Davis powers Indiana past Michigan State 82-69

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BLOOMINGTON — Trayce Jackson-Davis finished with 31 points and 15 rebounds for his 40th career double-double and Indiana pulled away in the second half to beat Michigan State 82-69 on Sunday.

Jackson-Davis sank 10 of 20 shots from the floor and 11 of 13 from the free-throw line for the Hoosiers (13-6, 4-4 Big Ten Conference). He jumped two spots on Indiana's all-time scoring list. The senior has scored 1,898 points in his career, passing Alan Henderson (1,979) and Kevin 'Yogi' Ferrell (1,986) for sixth place. Next up is Indiana coach Mike Woodson's 2,061.

Jackson-Davis finished with five blocked shots to tie Jeff Newton's school-record career total of 227. He has 959 rebounds in his career — fourth all-time. Kent Benson is third with 1,031. Jackson has eight double-doubles this season. He is currently sixth on the Hoosiers' all-time list — one behind Benson and two behind Steve Downing.

Joey Hauser was hot early, scoring 11 points to help the Spartans (13-7, 5-4) build a 17-8 lead six minutes into the game. Jackson-Davis scored all 13 of his first-half points in the final 11:09 to give the Hoosiers a 37-32 lead at halftime.

Michigan State battled back in the second half and grabbed a 44-42 lead on a fast-break dunk by Jaden Akins with 15:52 remaining. Trey Galloway hit a 3-pointer and two free throws as Indiana retook the lead. Akins buried a 3-pointer to give the Spartans a 51-49 lead with 13:34 left, but Tamar Bates drilled a 3-pointer 29 seconds later and the Hoosiers never trailed again. Akins' 3-pointer with 6:04 to go upped Indiana's lead to 67-57 and the Hoosiers led by double digits from there.

Galloway sank all three of his shots from beyond the arc and scored 17 as Indiana earned its third straight victory. Bates, who didn't score in wins over No. 18 Wisconsin and Illinois in the previous two games, buried 5 of 6 shots from distance and scored 17. Jackson-Davis had a team-high four assists.

Hauser made 6 of 12 shots and 9 of 12 free throws to pace the Spartans with 22 points and six rebounds. Akins scored 15 on 6-of-8 shooting, including 3 of 4 from beyond the arc. A.J. Hoggard hit 7 of 10 foul shots and scored 11.

HANOVER ROUNDUP

Panthers whip Bluffton for 2nd-straight victory

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Hanover shot 54% for the game and rolled to a 73-35 rout over Bluffton in men's basketball Saturday at home.

The Panthers hit 16-of-30 shots in the first half to jump out to a 40-18 win after 20 minutes. They didn't cool at all in the second half, going 14-for-26 to blow the game open.

Eleven different players scored in the game for Hanover, led by Ty Houston's 17 points and six rebounds. Matt Munoz came off the bench to score 11 points and grab six rebounds while Brice Gilman had 10 points.

Hanover, which had lost three out of four during a recent stretch, has now won two straight and improves to 6-4 in the Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference. The Panthers are currently tied with Rose-Hulman and Transylvania for fourth place in the league standings.

Hanover, now 10-7 overall, travels to Rose-Hulman on Wednesday then heads to Defiance on Saturday.

WOMEN EDGE BLUFFTON

Katherine Benter, Grace Bezold and Taylor Heath each had double-doubles to lead Hanover to a 60-55 win over Bluffton at home in women's basketball on Saturday.

Benter, a sophomore from Brownstown, scored 17 points on 7-for-15 shooting on the day including 2-of-4 on 3-point attempts. She also had a block and two steals in the game.

Bezold, a sophomore from Covington, Kentucky, came off the bench to score 14 points on 6-of-12 shooting with 10 rebounds and four assists.

Heath, a junior from Fairland, had 10 points and 10 assists while also pulling down two rebounds.

Hanover, now 11-5 overall, improves to 8-1 in HCAC play, one game back of second-ranked and undefeated Transylvania. The Panthers were scheduled to host Rose-Hulman on Wednesday, but that game has been canceled due to low numbers in the Rose program. Hanover's next game is at Defiance on Saturday.

Chloe Preocanin

Hanover's Grace Bezold (1) shoots over Bluffton's Lindsey Smith during Saturday's game. Bezold had 14 points and 10 rebounds in the Panthers' 60-55 win.

Kentucky hands Texas A&M 1st SEC loss

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Antonio Reeves hit five 3-pointers and scored a season-high 23 points as Kentucky beat Texas A&M 76-67 on Saturday, handing the Aggies their first SEC loss of the season.

After getting off to a 1-3 conference start that had created a lot of ire directed at coach John Calipari from fans, Kentucky (13-6, 4-3) has beaten then-No. 5 Tennessee, saw Oscar Tshiebwe post 37 points and 24 rebounds in a win over Georgia and then ended Texas A&M's seven-game winning streak.

Tshiebwe was double- and sometimes triple-teamed by the Aggies and finished with four fouls. He was held to seven points but grabbed 17 rebounds as Kentucky turned to the 3-pointer, going 11 of 32, their most attempts since hoisting 33 against Chattanooga in December 2011. The Wildcats' 11 3-pointers are the most since going 13 of 23 against Florida A&M on Dec. 21.

Reeves was 5 of 11 from the arc. Jacob Toppin scored 17 points, CJ Fredrick added 12 and Cason Wallace 11. The Wildcats were outshot 49%-40% but took 18 more shots with a 17-4 edge on the offensive boards.

Tyrece Radford carried the Aggies (13-6, 5-1) in the second half with 20 of his 22 points. Julius Marble scored 12 points before fouling out. Dexter Dennis and Henry Coleman III had 10 points each. Texas A&M was just 3 of 16 on 3-pointers.

It was frequently a very physical game. With 17 minutes left and the Aggies ahead by a point, Marble and Tshiebwe were given flagrant-1 fouls and Marble an additional personal. Replays showed Marble holding Tshiebwe running down the floor before Tshiebwe hit Marble in the face with an open hand. Marble then shoved Tshiebwe out of bounds while the Wildcat was trying to score.

Reeves hit a 3-pointer with 8 1/2 minutes to play to break a tie and the Wildcats led the rest of the way though the outcome wasn't certain until Fredrick hit a jumper with 48 seconds left then added two free throws for an eight-point lead. The nine-point margin of victory was the largest of the game for either team.

Marble and Coleman combined to go 7 for 7, scoring all the points in a 14-2 run that was aided by four Kentucky turnovers to take a six-point lead with four minutes left in the first half before Reeves and Toppin tied it with consecutive 3-pointers. Radford had the only points in the final three minutes with a pair of free throws for a 31-29 lead.

Kentucky was 7 of 21 on 3-point tries in the first half, already passing their average per game of 19.

Kentucky plays at Vanderbilt on Tuesday (TV: Live on SEC at 9 p.m.)

AP source: Mahomes sustained high ankle sprain

BY DAVE SKRETTA
ASSOCIATED PRESS

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Patrick Mahomes sustained a right high ankle sprain in the Kansas City Chiefs' divisional playoff win over the Jaguars, a person familiar with the nature of the injury told The Associated Press on Sunday, though the All-Pro quarterback expects to play against Cincinnati in next week's AFC championship game.

Mahomes was hurt late in the first quarter Saturday when a Jacksonville defender landed on him. X-rays taken during the game came back negative, and Mahomes returned after halftime to lead Kansas City to the 27-20 victory.

Mahomes underwent an MRI exam Sunday to better determine the extent of the injury, the person told AP, speaking on condition of anonymity because the team did not announce the results. The tests showed no structural damage.

"Obviously, I have a lot of adrenaline going right now. We'll see how it feels but I'll hop right into treatment tonight and try to do whatever I can to be as close to 100% by next week," Mahomes said late Saturday. "Luckily for us we played the early game on Saturday, so we get an extra almost half a day that I can let that ankle rest."

The Chiefs will face the Bengals, who beat the Bills 27-10 in their divisional game Sunday, in a rematch of last year's AFC title game. Cincinnati rallied from an early 21-3 deficit for a 27-24 overtime victory and a spot in the Super Bowl.

Mahomes said Saturday night that his ankle already felt "better than I thought it would feel now."

Still, high ankle sprains are notoriously difficult to overcome. Chiefs running back Clyde Edwards-Helaire sustained one in late November and landed on injured reserve, and only last week did he finally return to practice.

"I don't want to jump to things right now, but let's just see how it goes here the next couple days," Chiefs coach Andy Reid said Saturday night.

Mahomes missed most of the second quarter against the Jaguars but still threw for 195 yards and two scores. The second of them was a throw to Marquez Valdes-Scantling in the fourth quarter that ultimately provided the winning margin.

While Mahomes was out, backup Chad Henne led the Chiefs on a 12-play, 98-yard touchdown drive.

Short-handed Suns down Pacers 112-107

BY DAVID BRANDT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

PHOENIX — The broad-shouldered Ish Wainright looks as if he should be making plays in the NFL instead of the NBA.

For a while, that was the dream.

But Wainright's athletic career is back on the basketball court these days, and he used his surprising skill set to help the short-handed Phoenix Suns win their second straight game by beating the Indiana Pacers 112-107 on Saturday night.

"Obviously, you need talent in this league," Suns coach Monty Williams said. "But playing hard, with talent, it's a great combination."

Josh Okogie led the Suns with 24 points and 10 rebounds while Mikal Bridges added 22 points, but it was a couple clutch plays from Wainright during the final possessions iced it.

The muscular 6-foot-5, 235-pound forward nailed a corner 3 with 1:10 left to push the Suns up by 107-101 and then added a nifty assist on a pass to Jock Landale for an easy basket — two stellar possessions that kept that feisty Pacers fighting from behind.

Indiana had a chance to tie on its final possession, but Buddy Hield missed a rushed 3-pointer with two seconds left. The Pacers lost despite a triple-double from T.J. McConnell, who had 18 points, 12 assists and 10 rebounds.

Phoenix and its ragtag roster took an 87-83 lead into the fourth quarter. The Suns were once again missing a big chunk of their staring lineup, including the All-Star backcourt of Chris Paul and Devin Booker. Starting center Deandre Ayton was out with a non-COVID-19 illness.

But the Suns are still playing hard and treading water in the Western Conference.

"We're holding it down and just building trust," Wainright said of playing without the team's stars. "They're trusting us, so when they get back, we'll trust them."

Both the Suns and Pacers struggled to score in the fourth quarter.

The Suns pushed to a 102-94 lead with 2:49 left but the Pacers scored four points on one possession when Phoenix's Saben Lee was called for a flagrant foul after elbowing Hield in the face. Hield hit both free throws and Bennedict Mathurin made a layup after the Pacers retained possession because of the flagrant foul.

The Pacers eventually pulled to 104-101 but Wainright's corner 3 swung the momentum back in the Suns' favor.

The Suns won despite shooting 41.8% from the field. The Pacers shot just 37.5%.

Indiana was without its leading scorer Tyrese Haliburton, who missed his sixth straight game. The Pacers have lost seven straight.

"Getting the next win is going to be challenging," Pacers coach Rick Carlisle said. "That is how it is in his league."

The Suns had a 59-57 lead at halftime. Bridges led the Suns with 14 points while Bismack Biyombo had 12 points, seven rebounds and three blocks. Mathurin — who played at Arizona in college — scored 12 points for the Pacers and finished with a team-high 23.

WAINRIGHT'S JOURNEY

Wainright played four seasons of basketball at Baylor before switching to football, where he was a tight end for one season for the Bears.

He played well enough on the football field that he earned a tryout with the NFL's Buffalo Bills in 2018, but didn't make the final roster. Then it was back to basketball, and he played in Europe for a couple years before signing a two-way contract with the Suns in 2021.

He didn't play much at first, but has slowly earned a bigger role.

"It's player development," Williams said. "But it's also the player committing to the development. You can come in the gym, jack up shots and collect a check, or you can be intentional about it."

MCCONNELL'S WTRIPLE DOUBLE

McConnell had the third triple-double of his NBA career, grabbing a 10th rebound late in the fourth quarter.

"Rebounding is kind of one of those things as a guard, if you are not blocking out, you have to guess where the ball is going," McConnell said. "Try to chase long rebounds and they kind of came to me tonight. I wasn't hunting for them they kind of landed in my hands."

TIP-INS

Pacers: Haliburton was wearing the jersey of San Francisco 49ers rookie quarter back Brock Purdy while sitting on the bench. Haliburton and Purdy both played in college at Iowa State.

Suns: Paul, Booker, Ayton, F Cam Johnson, G Cam Payne and G Landry Shamet were all out. ... Honored the 1992-93 Suns team that won the Western Conference championship. They lost to the Bulls in the NBA Finals in six games. Several players were in attendance, including 11-time All-Star Charles Barkley, who was MVP that season. ...
